

William Norris Is Not the Other Witness

By Richard Joseph Michael Ibranyi

I have said in the past that William George Norris was one of the Witnesses mentioned in the Book of the Apocalypse, Chapter 11. I did not base this upon a direct sign from God but from the presumption that the Two Witnesses had to be living in the same place and be under the same rule so as not to cause a schism. And because William was zealous, and based upon an inspiration I believed was from God, I said he was the other Witness. This bothered Will for some time, and he found it hard to come to terms with it. As it progressively bothered him, it bothered me too, and I began to doubt that he was the other Witness and understood that if he was not I have put an undue burden upon him. Also, there were no signs confirming that Will was the other Witness. Hence I now believe that he is not the other Witness. I must be patient and let God clearly point out and confirm who the other Witness is. I feel like I made a mistake similar to what Abraham made with Ismael. I got myself and Will into this mess, and now I have gotten us out of it.

I have said this many times, and I live by it, that if someone cannot admit when he is wrong or when he has sinned, then he can never become perfect and holy. Instead, he is full of pride and will not only remain wrong and sinful but will become worse. I am sure this will not be the last mistake or error that I make, but I also pray that I may have the grace and humility to confess when I am wrong or when I have erred or sinned.

Lastly, I still firmly believe that I am one of the Two Witnesses and will be the next pope; and there were and are many, many signs to confirm this, not just an inspiration or two. And most importantly my works on the faith confirm this. I can truly say: "Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will tell you what great things he hath done for [to and in] my soul." (Ps. 65:16)

Sincerely,

Richard Joseph Michael Ibranyi
